OLIVER MILOSCHESKY

DIRECTOR
SINCE 2017

I always felt that I'm the lucky one finding and making my own happiness. I got the travel and adventure bug from my father and the happy-go-lucky attitude from my mum. Having lived in Germany, USA, Australia and now Singapore, I'm looking forward to the next chapter whenever and wherever that will lead me and Vic.

If you had to write a book, what will the title be? Why?

'In 80 days around the world'
I have been very fortunate travelling to many different countries and living in different parts of the world. With current COVID restrictions the book would therefore be part history, part fiction dreaming of future travel!

How did you get to know PS and how did you become involved?

All I'd say is that Victoria can be very convincing! Right from the first small project in Cambodia after we moved to Singapore, PeopleStories has grown into something much bigger and beautiful.

Why PeopleStories?

We all want something real and know that whatever we do actually makes a positive difference, even if it's only a small step to helping others and making their lives better. That's exactly what I see in PeopleStories and if you take the time listening to some of the stories and meeting some of the students, you'd be amazed how all of us can make this world a better place, one story at a time.

If you could say something to your 10-year-old self, what would it be?

Go out and explore and always be open to new adventures. Yes, we have to work smart and create our own opportunities but there are many different ways to achieve our vision. The journey to get there should be as much fun as achieving the goal itself.

If you are granted 3 wishes to make the world a better place, what would those wishes be?

- 1) No more greed! Share with others if you can. There are always people more unfortunate than you.
- 2) Be kind and appreciate what different people and cultures have to offer. If you need a reminder, just think Food.
- 3) Be happy! Stop comparing yourself to others and find happiness in what you do and have.
