CEO. Founder. Change Maker
at PeopleStories Charity

Bringing Philanthropy and Community Development Strategy To Live

After spending most of my life in Australia, I decided to return to Asia where my roots are. I came from a working-class family and witnessed first-hand the sacrifices my sisters had to make to quit school to support the family. Conversely, I have also seen the power of education as I secured a scholarship in Australia where built my beautiful family and successful career in Human Resources.

I am no stranger to hardships and challenges, having undergone multiple cancer surgeries and treatments while raising my son Edward as a single mother.

Ultimately these life hurdles made me resolve even wiser to live a purposeful life.

I am the CEO, Founder and proud to be the driving force behind PeopleStories, where I am determined to help disadvantaged brothers and sisters to complete school and gain a brighter future.

About PeopleStories Charity

With 1 in 5 children dropping out of school in rural Cambodia, PeopleStories aims to transform lives through greater access to education and ultimately break the cycle of poverty.

Today, we work with 10 government schools to support approx. 3,000 students and teachers through scholarships, building school facilities, running literacy programs and sports education programs. 100% of donations go to our work including the provision of bicycles, school uniforms, bags, shoes, stationery, coaching programs... and, more importantly, empowering the many dreams!
